

HIFAR: An Array of Cylindrical Reflectors for Precision Cosmology

J.D. Bunton¹, F.H. Briggs (ANU/ATNF), & J.C. Blades (UNSW)

¹CSIRO ICT Centre, Sydney, Australia

Email: john.bunton@csiro.au

Abstract

HIFAR is a “Hydrogen Frequency Array” that will study the redshifted 21cm line of neutral hydrogen (HI) from its rest frequency at 1420 MHz down to frequencies as low as 100 MHz, corresponding to cosmological redshifts of 13.